Countdown: - 52 days to the Festival

A skilful fusion of classical art technique and modern technology creates the official poster for the 26th edition of the International Circus Festival of Italy.

A new direction for the visuals of this year's Festival: our poster is a combination of traditional watercolour technique and its digital elaboration. The artwork is by local artist Clelia La Gioia, and underlines the cultural energy of the city of Latina, which the Festival is pleased to support and promote.

Today we are delighted to present the new artwork for the 26th edition of the International Circus Festival of Italy to the press. The poster was created from original watercolour paintings by local artist Clelia La Gioia, reworked digitally by the artist herself; the delicate brushstrokes of the original paintings are enhanced by digital technology, showing acrobats, clowns, and animals, all the key elements of traditional Circus. "A bridge between tradition and innovation: my project grew from classical training and the potential of digital communication", says Clelia La Gioia, 'Maestra d'Arte', who is originally from Puglia, in southern Italy. "I worked in two phases: pencil drawings, watercolour and acrylics, followed by digital elaboration using the latest technology". The resulting artwork manages to skilfully showcase the special guests who will be appearing at the Festival in Latina from October 16th to 20th: Renato y Valentino, clowns from Mexico, Stiv e Roni Bello with Ottaviano Simili, Italian clowns, and Alessio Fochesato, parrot trainer from Vicenza.

The poster is included as an attachment.
